1. [active] The economy turns downwards. Many thieves will be appeared appear.

2. [adjective] The world will become more united, peaceful and full of love.

3. [agreement] Being a Hong Kong people citizen, I have enough money. Why couldn’t these two kinds of help (local and overseas) coexist?

4. [agreement] Nowadays, Hong Kong’s needy people are increasing.

5. [be] In recent years, there have been many disasters all over the world.

6. [choice] Many activities have been held to help the suffering victims of the South Asia earthquake.

7. [choice] The victims are separated scattered all over the disaster zone.

8. [choice] We should have a loving heart to help people.

9. [countable] Hong Kong does have needy people, but not too much.

10. [do] I do not think we are selfish. We do not say that we should not help people in the other countries. But we should think about our resources first.

11. [extra words] In the recent years, there are a lot of disasters have happened.

12. [gerund] An earthquake caused a serious destruction and many people are still in danger.

13. [noun] Hong Kong is an international city. She has a definite effect in the world.

14. [noun] In China, there is always a problem of poverty.

15. [noun] These victims need our support and encouragement to rebuild their life. Their improvement depends on our generosity.

16. [order] The people who are suffering and hungry, we should help them.

17. [p.p.] After the earthquake, many people are homeless and injured.

18. [plural] We should not be selfish and just help the ones who have the same nationality with us.

19. [preposition] Everyday, many people die by of hunger in the poor countries.

20. [preposition] I agree with the statement that we should help Hong Kong’s needy first.

21. [rewrite] After the earthquake, the victims are it is difficult for the victims to make a living.

22. [rewrite] Hong Kong does not happen any serious natural disasters here in Hong Kong.

23. [spelling] Besides, Hong Kong is a lucky place. She doesn’t have many earthquakes.

24. [subject] If we have the money to spare, why don’t we spend it to help the SE Asia victims?

25. [subject] We should help Hong Kong’s needy people after we help the other countries.

26. [verb] Many victims have lost their homes and relatives in this massive earthquake.

27. [verb] Other countries will refuse to help because they also want to save themselves first.